

From Poland to Prague, Switzerland to Sweden follow the ZETTLER Roadshow truck, as it travels through Europe bringing the latest fire protection technology to the market.

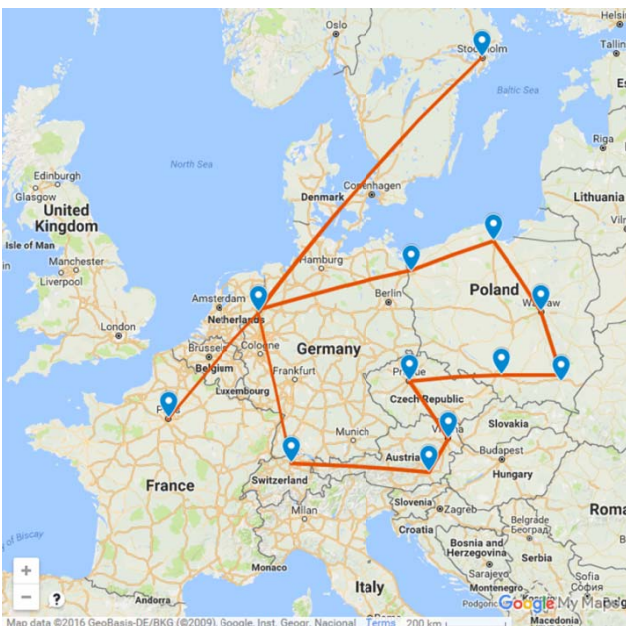

The first stop this autumn was Poland, where Tyco Fire Protection Products teamed up with key distributor, Lanster, to put on a series of events throughout the country including Szczecin, Gdansk, Warszawa, Rzeszów and Katowice.

Each event aimed to educate Poland's most influential consultants, contractors and installers in the full range of fire protection offered from Tyco Fire Protection Products and included both seminar style presentations and live demonstrations inside the truck.

From Poland the truck travelled over 450km to Prague, where it parked up at the Fire and Security Days exhibition. FS Days is a prestigious show bringing the latest trends in fire-fighting and security technologies to installation companies and government security agents. The show covers five key areas including, fire and security, IT protection, traffic safety, rescue and integrated building systems.

Here the ZETTLER PROFLE panel won the FS Days award.

The truck will travel to Stockholm for the SKYDD event. Here it will park up inside the exhibition hall, alongside the Tyco Security Products truck where together the two trucks will show the full fire and security offering from Tyco.

The ZETTLER truck will then travel nearly 2000 km to Expoprotection in Paris, before it heads back to its base in the Netherlands for the winter months. From September to November the ZETTLER truck will have travelled 6450km, which once again we must thank are driver Sjaak, who without, the trucks busy schedule would not run as smoothly. Watch out for some exciting news on what will be happening with the ZETTLER roadshow truck for 2017.
